A Better World

If I were in charge of the world what I would change for a better life would be something I feel deeply about. I would try my best to help endangered animal populations. I would try to protect our trees and the animals that live in them and most of all freedom from litter, pollution and black smoke in our air. All the reasons why I would love to save these wonderful things is that if we don't then a black world lies ahead.

Saving endangered animals is important to me because many of these animals we need. If we don't help them then how can we help ourselves? To help them I would make a place with an invisible force field that would protect them at all times. It would prevent hunters from getting in and zap them if they tried to get in. This way the animals could run free in their own environment without attacking each other. We have to save all these wondrous animals before it is too late.

Why should we save the trees? Well, there are many reasons. Some animals live in them, their beauty in nature and finally they give us air to survive. Whenever a forest of trees is cut down we should be ready to plant a new one to continue their existence. If I were in charge of the world in order to save the trees I would pass some laws. First there must be a tree farm in each city to get more trees growing. I would put people in charge of watching over the farms that love nature as much as I do. I would also put sculptures in each farm that have a plaque saying, "Protect our trees they are one of the most important ingredients in our world."

Last are litter, pollution and smoke. If we continue to pollute we will regret it because we will be living in a world of our own filth. I would create robots that would recycle the garbage into energy and fuel and stuff we use. I would put a no smoking policy all around the world and make people pay a fine if they smoke. I would do this because then people would not get lung cancer and have a better life. The money we collect from the fines we could use it to improve the environment and make more space for nature's beauty. Robots with camcorders would be watching for people who polluted and littered. I would build factories that would make cars that used less oil and be cheaper.

To make the world a better place I would use people who love nature, the world's smartest scientists and some of the best creations made to improve our life. I say these words with a serious mind. This is what I would do if I was in charge of the world!
